DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(a) the invention was known or used by others in this country, or patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country, before the invention thereof by the applicant for a patent.

Claims 10-13 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(a) as being anticipated by Holmes.

Holmes discloses that during MEDTEX '03, the advantages of spider silk were disclosed and that spider silk was used by Rakhima Alimova in Uzbekistan for flossing teeth. Regarding claims 11-13, these are inherent properties of spider silk.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 14 and 15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Holmes

It is old and well known in the art to provide dental floss with coatings such as wax as a lubricant, and thus it would have been within the level of one skilled in the art to provide the spider silk floss of Holmes with a coating of wax.

Claims 10-15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Marcon (United States Patent No. 6,102,050).

Art Unit: 3732

Marcon discloses flossing one's teeth with silk, however does not specify the type of silk used. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to use spider silk as the silk in the method of Marcon, since it has been held to be within the general skill of a worker in the art to select a known material on the basis of its suitability for the intended use as a matter of obvious design choice. In re Leshin, 125 USPQ 416.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 10-15 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.
